SALISBURY AND OTHERS

The line of great Prime Ministers in England was not broken by Lord Salisbury. It was Prince Bismarck's characteristic sneer after the Congress of Berlin that Salisbury was a lath paint-the five meal habit, unless it be the cd to look like iron. The phrase would have been true if Lord Salisbury had ever let his conciliatory spirit fall into weakness and vaciliation; but it has been shown in more than one crisis that the successor in Disraell's brill-pays for it in doctor's bills. It is a liant teader ship was a man who could stand firmly for his country. It is perhaps enough to recall the Fashoda incident and the sudden front of broadsides when Cleveland's Venezuela message and the Kaiser's telegram to Krueger brought danger out of clear lived people, and those most afflicted to Krueger brought danger out of clear lived people and the swagger rich. gland was not broken by Lord Sallssage and the Kaiser's telegram to with physical allments while they do Krueger brought danger out of clear skies, to show Salisbury at his best.

Conciliation was not an underscored day Sun that the gout is wreaking itwest in Bismarck's lexicon of politics. Always and ever he was the man of blood and iron. He kept the peace of the three-meal habit is an inheritance for any power except Gerand desewhere when people carned design to break it. In demostic politics their living by physical toll. We dangerous for any power except Germany to break it. In domestic polities their living by physical toil. We he brooked no opposition; and he ended doubt that so much food was necessary his career is public life by disdaining then; but it was eaten, and the habit the wishes of the Emperor himself, of calling for it was passed on to generate and the salisbury that he naturally misunderstood it. It remained for the one to withdraw into a crabeled, snarling and disappointed old man; for the other to stay in power than he requires or ought to force upon until he was ready to leave it and then his digestion is a fact which the high to go voluntarily back to private life average of health in prisons illustrates. to go voluntarily back to private life average of health in prisons illustrates with honor, love, obedience, troops of We venture to say that the convicts in Va-rious clairvoyants and "witches" have rious ciairvoyants and "witches" have brought themselves into notoriety from time to time by such prophecies and in his weakened state the King fears the worst. On that account his doctors are anxious to have the coronation over with. The peremony has been shorten-ed to one hour and it is possible the King may be able to get through with it some fine morning early next month.

The King's health is such as to permit him to cruise on the Royal yacht. Nothing is said in the dispatches of the need of a further operation and it is thought that His Majesty may escape it.

That is the peril which assured, confronts every earner of salaries and wages in this city. This is no idle surmise. Business men agree that another Legislature like the last one would compel them to prune expenses with at unsnaring hand.

Watterson while not liking Bryan, says that he cannot go to rest with a clear conscience unless he has branded the Sage of Princeton Inn as an office-seeking fraud. In the interim a dozen Democratic State conventions have given Bryan and Bryanism a cold shoulder, with uncommonly bad results to the flerce creatures who still live in the Calamity Belt.

Salara Meal. And at sevently he was a business giant.

For the tropics the lighter the eating the better the health. In the Advertiser's first of January edition, the leading doctors of Honoiulu coincided in that statement and were also vigorous in their pronouncement against meat. Two meals a day are enough for anybody here and they should not be heavy meals. Those who toil least eat three meals a day with meat and other blood-warming provender at each meal. Experience shows that this habit makes business for the drug stores and doctors. It is so natural in a man placed as Edward VII now is to worry over triffes that the public need not be surprised at the report that he is uncomfort of making a dietetic change.

WHAT TO VOTE FOR.

The supreme issue in the coming Ter ritorial campaign will be one of brea and butter. Politics, men and part principles will only figure in it as the may help or hinder the economic phases of the struggle.

Before the Home Rule Legislature

met, the times in Hawaii were good For what has happened to them since General Kitchener quite fills the eye of the world as a soldier who is neither a politician nor a courtier. In these respects he calls to mind General Grant in his earlier days and Sheridan as he always was. Kitchener is essentially a fighting man; and so long as he has employment as such he is satisfied. But under no circumstances will be go into politics or become a carpet knight or court functionary. The British Army has long needed a commander of that stripe.

Delegate Wilcox has ceased to call the Kuokoas "Kids" and now undertakes to treat with them. The breaking of promises overnight, however, makes them shy of his advances. The best-informed politicians in the young Hawailan party know that they hold the balance of power and are not disposed to let Wilcox have any of it.

The King's health is such as to permit him to cruise on the Royal yacht. Nothing is said in the dispatches of the world as a soldier who is neither a politician neither a politician nor a courtier. In these respects to there are several contributing causes, but the Legislative cause is by no means the least. The mention of Senator Clark for the Democratic nomination of Vice President arouses great enthusiasm in the party. His record is regarded as one that would give great strength to the organization. Outlanders who haven't read it yet should hurry and consult Bradstreets.

On the other hand an honest and competent Legislature of whatever politics would do its full share towards bringing our lost prosperity back. There would then be no more trouble about loans; property would move again; business men would branch out. All that is wanted is a Legislature of honest and progressive men representing all parties that have honest and progressive ideas. The Republicans, the Democrats and the Kuokoas, each have leaders of that type and the time has come when their services are needed by the Territory.

RUSSIA'S POSITION.

The utterances of Grand Duke Boris cousin of the Czar, throw some side-lights on Russia's position as a power. His tour around the globe and the treatment he has received at the hands of various nations, also have their bearing on world-politics. The remarks of the Grand Duke in connection with the attitude of Japan and Russia are convincing that the Czar is carrying out the promise he made at The Hague Peace conference to work for international concord. Grand Duke Boris is very close to the Czar and a military officer, yet he intimates that Russia is not likely to ever again engage in a big statesman of the Salisbury school, a work on the streets and in the quarnephew of the late Premier, and promises to maintain the great traditions of free day laborers or mechanics, bis chief.
